Over the years people have been walking behind Clendenan's dam on what could be described as a simple foot path through a wildlife corridor. This property being part of the GSCA, is within our municipality accessible by road and linked by our municipal trails.

What I would like to draw to councils and our GSCA representative/s attention is the following. On numerous occasions people unleash their dogs within this wildlife habitat - the dogs then run freely; I believe it would be in the best interest of safety and the overall health of the eco system for the dogs to be leashed and for owners perhaps to use the dog park. (as one wildlife official stated ,no self respecting fox would even live there now)

I'm respectfully asking council to provide direction to the most effective parties to investigate this concern and formulate the most logical solution to what should be nothing short of good common sense to leash your dog in a conservation area

Thank-you Alex Maxwell
